The responsibility lies totally on each exhibiting institution to ensure that all goods exhibited at the expo and meant for sale in the USA are in compliance with the US national organic program (NOP). All ingredients or goods intended for use in organic product and manufacturing and for sale in the US must comply with NOP by a USDA accredited certifier. Companies may exhibit products labeled as organic at the expo for sale in other countries provided they are certified by a national authority or private certification entity. Personal care products, pet food, dietary supplements, and textile that are not regulated by the US NOP must contain at least 70% certified organic ingredients. Companies must provide full certification documents for their products to exhibit at the Green Life Expo. Refusal to meet the certification standards for your product and or company will result in removal from the show floor.
